

Copyright Material Release

(For self-created, or copyright free content)

Having course readers is a great way to assemble course materials from multiple sources in a single and organized packet for students. It also saves students from purchasing multiple books. The bookstore is here to assist you for permissions, production and sales of course packets. Simply provide the bookstore, with your course information and bibliographic information of the content (author, title, edition, ISBN, and page numbers) and the bookstore will seek permissions for reproduction.
